ITS PROPOSED CONVERSION INTO AN EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

The Memorial Bridge and Amphitheatre at Arlington-Talk with Mr. Clements, Originator of the Idea A Bill to Be Introduced. The proposition to convert the 800 acres of Government land on the old Lee or Arlington estate into an agricultural experiment station and farm, and to erect an amphitheatre in the National Cemetery there, and a Memorial Bridge across the Potomac, published exclusively in THE CRITIC, is meeting with great favor among the citizens, Grand Army men, legislators and others. A bill covering the project will be introduced in Congress next week.

A CRITIC reporter met Mr. James E. Clements, who, on Saturday last, called the attention of several members of Congress to the Arlington estate, as mentioned at length in the columns of this paper of that date, and asked him if he had anything further to say concerning the improving, utilizing and beautify-ing of that reservation. In reply Mr. Clements said that the U. S. Congress did not seem to recognize the intrinsic and historic value of this beautiful and large estate. In this reservation, containing 1,100 acres, only about 300 acres were used for Fort Myer and National Cemetery purposes, leaving 800 acres for which the people of the county had been taxed to pay $150,000, running waste into deep gullies and chasms and growing up into brambles and briers, with the ex-ception of about 100 acres occupied by the Freedman's Village, a settlement of colored people, who the Government had allowed to settle there during the Civil war and who, expecting every year to be evicted by Uncle Sam, had made no improvements, and the village be-coming more and more delapidated every year, until now it could not be surpassed for dinginess and squallor in probably any section of the world— civilized or uncivilized—although it is in sight of the Capital of the United States and within two miles of the White House. He said some of these colored people were honorable and industrious, and when the Government ordered them and when the Government ordered them off they should be paid a fair value for any buildings or other improvements they had erected thereon. He thought an appropriation of $20,000 would be sufficient for this. Mr. Clements said many of the people were willing and anxious to move off this reservation and only waited the word "go" from the Government. They felt that it was better to get themselves little homes of their own than it was to live on this reservation in a feeling at all times of anxiety and suspense. Many of them have moved off, but others from Washington City and other parts of the country crowd in and fill up the ranks, consequently Freedman's Village is more thickly settled to-day than at any time since the war.

Mr. Clements said he thought the had now arrived for the United States Government to put to a useful purpose this surplus 800 acres of the Arlington estate. That Secretary of Agriculture Rusk had his eye upon it. and as the Agricultural Department had lately been dignified by making its chief a Cabinet officer, he felt something would have to be done to give that high official more room to advance the interests of agriculture, and certainly if there was any branch of industry that needed encouragement at this time it was the agricultural interests. He said was the agricultural interests. He said the farmers of the country had clamored for the creation of the office of "Secretary of Agriculture;" now they had it, and now they were looking to see what he was going to do. Therefore, he did not think it would be just the thing to shull the Secretary with the secretary in small helds halld. the Secretary up in a small brick build-ing in the confines of the city, but thought the farmers of our country would rejoice to know that the Secretary had a handsome experimental farm of 800 acres area, on which he was forcing the products of this country to grow in their greatest splendor and perfection. This would become a great visiting place for the agriculturists of the coun-try, and would have a strong tendency to inspire them to greater efforts and stimulate by showing them the perfections of their avocations.

"I think," he said, "the farmers of the whole country would favor this idea, and, if Congressmen want to do something for their farmer friends, whom they all profess to love, let them pass a law giving to the Secretary of Agriculture this surplus 800 acres, and vote him $50,000 to put it in order. The remaining 300 acres could be left in charge of the Secretary of War forever, as the national burial ground for deceased Union soldiers. I hope every farmer and promoter of the uoble science of agriculture will write the Committees on Agriculture of the the Committees on Agriculture of the Senate and House of Representatives concerning this very important matter."

Being asked about the cemetery grounds, Mr. Clements said: There did not seem to be any improvement going on. They were just being kept up. A new road around and among the graves was being cut now and then, but there was nothing to indicate that this was a great nation and that there lay thou-sands of its heroic defenders sleeping the sleep that knows no waking, thought Congress could do no nobler nor more grateful act than to build a grand amphitheatre-like hall of large and graceful proportions in which to hold burial services of departed warriors and for commemorative services now held on every 30th of May, that day being known as "Decoration Day" and set apart by Congress as a legal holiday. Every Grand Army man and lover of his country, regardless of party or politics, would applaud the action of Congress in building such a structure. In regard to the Memorial Bridge Mr. Clements said: "Well, there should be a bridge over the river there, whether you call it "Memorial Bridge," "Arling-ton Bridge" or "Christopher Columbus Bridge." He thought it ought to be commenced right away, so that it could be completed, named and dedicated in he completed, halled and dedicated as 1892; that people were bound to visit this nation in great numbers from foreign countries in that year, and it would be a great oversight in our people if they did not have something "big" take place here at the National Capital that year. He said that he understood that Colonel Hains, United States Civil Engineer, was drawing a plan of a magnificent suspension bridge, from New York avenue across the Potomac to Arlington Heights, so high as not to obstruct navigation. This would be a grand scheme, and would beautify and improve the Capital City immeasurably. This bridge would intersect with the Mount Vernon avenue, and the two together would be an accomplishment so magnificent, serviceable and patriotic that citizens from every State and section of our country could join hands and rejoice. In conclusion Mr. Clements sald: "It seems to me that every one I have talked to about the improvement of the Arlington estate is in favor of it, and I am glad that THE Carrie has taken such a bold stand in the matter and has brought the state of affairs so prominently before the SPRING SPORTS.

What the Stars of the Baseball World Are Dolug-Notes and Gossip,

The opening dates were changed so that the seasons of both the National League and the Players' League will open on the same day, April 19. This action of the Brotherhood in selecting the same opening day as the National League makes the fight more aggressive than ever, and effectually silences the National League people, who were confident that the Players' were afraid to clash with them in their dates. The question of taking back deserters from the Brotherhood was settled without much argument. It was decided that Beckley, Mulvey and Delehanty be re-instated under a resolution requiring a unanimous vote of the Board of Directors for such a purpose.

The case of John T. Pickett, the shortstop of the Philadelphia Players' Club, whose services are claimed by the Kansas City Club of the American Association, under the reserve clause, was taken up and settled.

The action of the Cleveland Convention in allowing to each club 2 per cent. of all tickets issued, as complimentaries, was reversed and the figure increased to 3 per cent.

During the season each club will be known by a flag as well as by a uni-form. Each club will be provided with eight flags, and on the day of a game its own flag will fly from the flagstaff with that of the visiting team. The League also adopted resolutions permitting the clubs to give exhibition between themselves prior to the open-ing of the championship season. This permission is only for the present sea-No exhibition games will be allowed on Sunday.

The convention then adjourned, after passing resolutions of thanks to Judges Howland and Bacon of New York and Moore and Vanderslice of Philadelphia for their work in the recent legal diffi-culties between the National League and the Brotherhood.

and the Brotherhood.

After the meeting adjourned the umpires assembled and discussed with Secretary Brunnell the playing rules and their proper interpretation. Those present were Bob Ferguson of Brooklyn, Jim Gaffney of Worcester, Charles Jones and Billy Holbert of New York, Bobby Matthews of Philadelphia, Ross Barnes of Chicago, Thomas Gunning Barnes of Chicago, Thomas Gunning of Philadelphia and Alonzo Knight of New York.

to-morrow with the Hamilton Club The rumor of the sale of the Columbus Baseball Club to Indianapolis or Detroit is still going the rounds. The latest one is to the rounds. The latest one is to the effect that Sunday games are to be stopped at Columbus and that no money can be made without them, and that the team has been weakened so badly by the loss of Baldwin, Orr and Daily that it is not much stronger than a minor League club and will not draw the crowds during the week that it did last year. While there is considerable talk of stopping the Sunday games, nothing definite can be learned just now, but it is evident that the directors are uneasy from the fact that they are flooding the City Council and others in authority with complimentary season tickets. The club is making such a poor showing in the exhibition series that the people are becoming disgusted, and it is hard to tell what the outcome will be unless it is greatly strengthened.

Paul Hines has settled the differences. between himself and the Pittsburg management and yesterday he signed a three years' contract to play for that team. His salary will be $2,800 per season.

The League magnates are chuckling to themselves this morning to think how the Players' League fell into the conflicting schedule trap. Bill Gleason is in fine form and he looks it. He declares his arm is all right again. That $40,000 guarantee fund has not yet been put up by the Brotherhood backers, nor will it be. The deluded players will have to be content with what salaries they can get out of the gate receipts. The closing shoot in the champion ship series between the Eastern and Western teams took place on the Wellington range yesterday and was won by the latter. J. R. Slice won the handsome silver pitcher offered by the Wellington Gun Club to the Western wellington Gun Club to the Western team making the highest individual score. The scores follow:

Western team—C. W. Budd, Des Moines, Iowa, 33; J. R. Slice, Omaha, Neb., 37; R. O. Hikes, Dayton, Ohio, 36; C. E. Cahoon, Freeport, Ill., 33; J. A. Ruble, Beloit, Wis., 34. Total, 173, Rutherford Says His Wife is a Verita-Mrs. Jennie Rutherford, a buxom female of about fifty summers, whose hair is iron-gray, appeared in the Police Court to day in an alleged case of assault that occurred over one year ago.

Her husband, William C. Rutherford, was the defendant, and Judge Miller ook his personal bonds. Mr. Rutherford lives at 201 Fourand-a-half street, and claims to be very largely a hen-pecked husband. He says his wife uses twenty cents' worth of opium, a large quantity of snuff and about a quart of whisky every day. She has, he alleges, made his life not worth living, and takes great delight in entering his apartments and bombard-ing him and his friends with boots, shoes and whatever else is lying around

On one occasion, he says, she came to his rooms with a bottle of vitrol and threatened to throw it in his face, and, on another, threatened to brain him with a poker. He said to a CRITIC reporter that he would have her incarcerated in an insane asylum, were it not for his fear of killing her by depriving her of her whisky and opium, and thus feeling that he was a murderer.

Lawyer C. A. Michener of Philadelphia and Judge Jordan appeared for the defendant. Rutherford also said he had to place padlocks on his doors to keep his irate wife out of his apart-ments. Dr. G. Higgins said he was glad several times to escape with his life during her bombardments,

MR GLEASON WON.

But a Thief Got Away With the Win-nings Without Much Trouble. "I had the top horse and I am a dead

This money he had just pulled out of the pool box and was about to return a portion of it on the next race when he discovered that the "wad" was gone. He immediately re-ported the robbery to the police force and they made strenuous efforts to ap-prehend the thief.

Mr. Gleason says that he cultivated the acquaintance of a man at the track on Monday, who seem to be a genial, good-hearted sort of a fellow and he was with him at the time the money

Gaetano Married Manesaro's Sweet-heart and Was Killed.

NEW YORK, April 3 .- Antonio Man esaro and Carmino Caggiano have been arrested for the murder of Gaeteno Paolo at Casale Sattano, Italy, two years ago. Manesaro was found work-ing in a mine at Wilmerding, Pa., and Caggiano was working on a sand boat in the East River and living in this rity.

Jealousy was the cause of the murder.

Paolo had married Manesaro's sweet-heart. While returning from a neigh-boring village to his home Paolo was waylaid by the two men. Cagglano held him while Manesaro plunged a stiletto six times into his breast.

A peasant witnessed the murder, but was afraid to inform the authorities until he learned that the murderers had left Italy. Inspector Byrnes was asked last November by Counsel for the Italian Government to search for the tives, but it was only recently that they

She had read in the papers many romantic stories concerning shoplifters and she thought she would try her own hand at it. She said she had been stealing from numerous stores for week or so and had all the goods in her room with the price marks undisturbed. Her intention was to give a supper at her hotel to which she would invite the superintendents and head ladies of the different stores from which she had pilfered and would return to them the stolen property. The woman was committed to the county prison pending an investigation as her sanity.

SAN DIEGO, CAL., April 3 .- The Calamo stage was held up Monday near Ensenada, Lower California, by a lone aighwayman with a Winchester, and ordered the nine men in the stage to throw out the International Company's which was to have been shipped by that trip.

It happened that the $25,000 which was to have been shipped had been de-layed. Major Zimpelman of the El Paso mine, however, had $6,000 in bullion with him, and other passengers had about $2,000 more, but all they threw out, was eighteen Mexican dollars. On learning that the treasure was not aboard, the highwaymen ordered the driver to proceed which he did. Afterward the stage went back to the spot and search was made for the bandit, but without avail.

CHAMBERSBURG, PA., April 3 .- For several years there has resided in Conseveral years there has resided in Con-cord, in the northern part of Franklin county, a middle aged man who calls himself John Penn, a descendant of William Penn, but who is known as J. W. C. Goshorn. He keeps a drug store and has painted and fitted up his home fantastically.

He is believed to be demented, and has not been on good terms with his neighbors, some of whom he has indi-rectly ridiculed in a paper he prints in blank verse. Recently he ordered some of the residents to leave the town, and threw what is believed to have been dynamite near a crowd. It exploded with terrible force, but hurt no one. He was arrested, and is now in jail.

His story is that the people do not understand his doctrines, and for a week before his arrest he paraded his porch, dressed as a Continental soldier and carrying a heavy musket. He claims to be a college graduate, a mem-ber of the Sigma Chi Fraternity, a minister and a doctor. He says he was paster of several Episcopal congregations in Philadelphia some years ago. ## A REVELATION

An Alarming Prevalence of RHEU-MATIC and NEURALGIC tronbles That the Climate Produces.

The Government has furnished tabulated statement, carefully compiled from actual facts, showing the alarming prevalence along the coast States and lake regions of America of rheu matic and neuralgic diseases. Few people realize these things until confronted with the actual figures, but it shows overwhelmingly that the first symptoms of all such troubles should be attended to with the utmost care. Any man or woman who feels an aching in the muscles or joints, or pain in the head, should not delay an hour. Stop. it! Apply Perry Davis' Pain-Killer freely externally, and take it in sweetened water internally. Pain-Killer has a record of fifty years standing which is simply unequalled.

The best physicians know and admit it; all scientists acknowledge it; the people have proven it. The severity of the climate, the rigor of winter, sudden changes, can all be counteracted and their injurious influence overcome by this grand preparation which has been and is the ideal household remedy.
